At Delphi Technologies we take privacy and confidentiality matters very seriously. Privacy creates a variety of responsibilities for us, but for you it means two things:

1. that Delphi Technologies has taken the right measures to guarantee that your data stays private and secure;
2. that Delphi Technologies is completely transparent with you so that you may have a clear understanding of what data we have, how we process it, why and for how long.

In the context of the European Union General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) that shall enter into force on May 25th 2018, Delphi Technologies has taken even further steps towards data protection in order to insure GDPR compliance.

With this in mind, the Nominating and Governance Committee of Delphi Technologies has delegated data protection matters to our General Counsel who has appointed a data privacy team, led by two data protection experts:

- the Global Data Privacy Officer;
- and the Authorized Data Protection Compliance Manager.

Delphi Technologies' data privacy team has taken the appropriate guaranties and concluded the necessary agreements to ensure that your personal data transferred in or outside of the EU is processed in a secure way. Such agreements may be provided to you upon request to the contact email found below.

We also updated our Privacy Policy which can be found on our website or on this link: www.delphi.com/privacy-policy.

If you want to raise queries about your personal data, you can contact Delphi Technologies' data privacy team at: personaldata.informationrequest@delphi.com
