Oceaneering Promotes Duncan McLean to Vice President and General Manager of Oceaneering Technologies

May 13, 2003 – Houston, Texas – Oceaneering International, Inc. (NYSE:OII) announced the promotion of Duncan McLean to Vice-President and General Manager, Oceaneering Technologies (OTECH).

Previously Manager of Marine Systems for OTECH, Mr. McLean has also served as the Oceaneering Program Manager for the U.S. Navy's Submarine Rescue Diving and Recompression System (SRDRS). Prior to joining Oceaneering, Mr. McLean served in the United States Navy for over 20 years, retiring as a Commander.

OTECH develops and operates specialized marine systems for both government and commercial Customers. Products and services include development of the next generation submarine rescue system for the U.S. Navy, remotely operated vehicles for deep ocean operations, automated hull cleaning and painting systems, and special purpose software and data analysis products for marine applications.

John Kreider, Senior Vice-President, Advanced Technologies stated, "OTECH is critical to the long-term growth and strategy of Advanced Technologies. Duncan has done an outstanding job in his previous management role at Oceaneering and in effectively coordinating with other groups to bring the best possible product to our Customers in a cost effective manner. His broad experience with design, build, and operation of marine systems provides a solid background to lead OTECH for future growth."

Oceaneering is an advanced applied technology company that provides engineered services and hardware to Customers who operate in marine, space, and other harsh environments. The Company's services and products are marketed worldwide to oil and gas companies, government agencies, and firms in the telecommunications, aerospace, and marine engineering and construction industries.
