(*) Marketing, reservation and loyalty funds are managed on behalf of our franchisees and typically break-even (expenses budgeted to not exceed revenues) on an annual basis. Due to the severe nature of RevPAR declines in 2020 as a result of COVID-19, the funds are anticipated to overspend, adversely impacting EBITDA, despite our cost savings initiatives. We expect to recover this overspend in future years. However, once the 2020 overspend has been recovered, these overhead reductions will eventually be redeployed on an annual basis to high-ROI marketing campaigns to drive increased bookings for our franchisees.
$206 million impairment charge

Principally related to the La Quinta acquisition

Impairment charges are non-cash and do not impact liquidity or cash flows

Attributable to higher discount rate due to increased share price volatility, consistent with the lodging sector and broader equity markets.

Non-GAAP Reconciliations

The following tables reconcile certain non-GAAP financial measures. The presentation of these adjustments is intended to permit the comparison of particular adjustments as they appear in the income statement in order to assist investors’ understanding of the overall impact of such adjustments. We believe that adjusted EBITDA provides useful information to investors about us and our financial condition and results of operations because adjusted EBITDA is among the measures used by our management team to evaluate our operating performance and make day-to-day operating decisions and because adjusted EBITDA is frequently used by securities analysts, investors and other interested parties as a common performance measure to compare results or estimate valuations across companies in our industry. Explanations for adjustments within the reconciliations can be found in our fourth quarter 2019 and subsequent Earnings Releases at investor.wyndhamhotels.com.

Definitions and Disclaimer

Definitions:
Adjusted EBITDA: Represents net income excluding interest expense, depreciation and amortization, impairment charges, restructuring and related charges, contract termination costs, transaction-related items (acquisition-, disposition-, or separation-related), foreign currency impacts of highly inflationary countries, stock-based compensation expense and income taxes. Adjusted EBITDA is a financial measure that is not recognized under U.S. GAAP and should not be considered as an alternative to net income or other measures of financial performance or liquidity derived in accordance with U.S. GAAP. In addition, our definition of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. Adjusted EBITDA also assists our investors in evaluating our ongoing operating performance by adjusting for certain items which may be recurring or non-recurring and which in our view do not necessarily reflect ongoing performance. We also internally use these measures to assess our operating performance, both absolutely and in comparison to other companies, and in evaluating or making selected compensation decisions. These supplemental disclosures are in addition to GAAP reported measures. These non-GAAP reconciliation tables should not be considered a substitute for, nor superior to, financial results and measures determined or calculated in accordance with GAAP.

Adjusted Free Cash Flow: Adjusted free cash flow represents net cash provided by operating activities less property and equipment additions, which we also refer to as capital expenditures. We believe adjusted free cash flow to be a useful operating performance measure to us and investors to evaluate the ability of our operations to generate cash for uses other than capital expenditures and, after debt service and other obligations, our ability to grow our business through acquisitions and investments, as well as our ability to return cash to shareholders through dividends and share repurchases. This non-GAAP measure is not necessarily a representation of how we will use excess cash. A limitation of using adjusted free cash flow versus the GAAP measure of net cash provided by operating activities as a means for evaluating Wyndham Hotels is that adjusted free cash flow does not represent the total cash movement for the period as detailed in the consolidated statement of cash flows.
