JACKSONVILLE, Fla. – April 17, 2018 -- Black Knight, Inc. (NYSE:BKI), a leading provider of integrated software, data and analytics to the mortgage and real estate industries, was named to HousingWire's 2018 HW Tech100 List, which recognizes the 100 most innovative technology companies in the U.S. housing economy, spanning mortgage lending, mortgage servicing, real estate and investments.

Black Knight was recognized this year for its Enterprise Business Intelligence (EBI) platform, comprised of two powerful Black Knight solutions: LoanSphere Data Hub and LoanSphere Motivity. LoanSphere Data Hub is a centralized framework that gathers, aggregates and links data from myriad sources, including application data, public records data, client data and multiple third-party data sets. LoanSphere Motivity is a state-of-the-art EBI solution that uses information from the Data Hub to deliver insights that are easy to access, understand and act upon to drive and align organizational behavior. Together, these two solutions help Black Knight's clients proactively retain customers, identify opportunities to generate revenue, increase efficiency and productivity, and help mitigate risk.

Many of the nation's largest financial institutions rely on Black Knight's comprehensive suite of proven origination, servicing and default solutions and massive property, loan and public records data to help overcome complex business challenges and grow their businesses.

In a press release revealing the winners of HousingWire's HW Tech100 awards, HousingWire Online Editor Caroline Basile said, "These companies provide innovative solutions and are moving the housing finance industry forward as technology rapidly changes how the landscape operates."

"Being recognized by HousingWire as one of the U.S. housing economy's leading technology providers is further evidence of Black Knight's ability to help transform the industry," said Black Knight CEO Anthony Jabbour. "More importantly, it shows what our clients already know: that Black Knight's innovations help our clients support their customers and more effectively manage and grow their businesses. We remain committed to advancing our digital and machine-learning capabilities, enhancing the automation of our offerings and identifying additional innovative solutions that can offer our clients a powerful competitive advantage."
