Black Knight Financial Services Combines the Automated Title Search and Order Management Functionality of TitlePoint and TitlePoint Xpress Into One Application

- TitlePoint and TitlePoint Xpress are now merging into a single TitlePoint interface to simplify the user experience
- The enhanced solution provides the same high-quality data and product functionality users are familiar with today
- The combined TitlePoint platform offers leading-edge, automated capabilities to conduct comprehensive title searches and manage orders

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. – Sept. 20, 2017 –Black Knight Financial Services, Inc. (NYSE: BKFS) announced the launch of TitlePoint version 5.0, which merges the technology underlying TitlePoint and TitlePoint Xpress, Black Knight’s leading-edge title search and order management applications. Delivering a single interface under the TitlePoint platform to access both applications eliminates the need to toggle between applications, which helps users save time and enhance efficiency.

TitlePoint and TitlePoint Xpress provide title companies with advanced, automated functionality to easily conduct title searches, create comprehensive search packages and manage orders. With TitlePoint, clients can create examiner-ready search packages; gain access to a network of rich, geographically posted title plants; and search from an image repository consisting of one billion document images. TitlePoint Xpress enables quick, cost-effective searches of up to seven databases in a single query; produces legal and vesting reports from across the U.S.; and allows users to perform combination title, tax and image searches in one inquiry.

The combined application interface provides access to the same refined content and product functionality familiar to TitlePoint and TitlePoint Xpress users.

In addition, Black Knight is providing clients with access to expanded title data as part of an ongoing plant modernization project in partnership with Fidelity National Financial, Inc. (NYSE: FNF), the nation’s largest title insurance company. Title plants have already been modernized in several U.S. counties as part of this initiative, and additional ones are planned for the near future.

“Black Knight is committed to delivering superior capabilities and modernizing title plants to continually enhance our clients' product experience," said Lisa Roessler, vice president of title strategy, Black Knight Data & Analytics division. "Combining our title search solutions onto one unified platform helps TitlePoint users more quickly obtain enhanced content and access time-saving functionality."

Black Knight's title solutions are used by title insurance underwriters, title companies and closing attorneys across the U.S., and include indices and images of all instruments filed with a jurisdiction that could impact title to real property -- including tax records, court records, maps, plats and prior starters.
