Notice of Amendment to Code of Conduct

On November 6, 2026, the Board of Directors (the "Board") of DoorDash, Inc. (the "Company"), acting upon the recommendation of the Board's Audit Committee, approved and adopted a revised Code of Conduct (as revised, the "Code"), which amended, restated, and replaced the Company's prior Code of Conduct (the "Prior Code"). The Code applies to all directors, officers and employees of the Company. The Board reviews the Code periodically and amends it as appropriate.

The Code was revised to, among other things, reflect current best practices and the Company's global operations, reorganize the Code into a more accessible, principles-based format with practical guidance and examples, and promote awareness of ethical issues that may be encountered in carrying out a director's, officer's or employee's responsibilities. Revisions to the Code are intended to update and/or clarify provisions regarding, among other things, (i) the administration of the Code and the procedures for reporting and handling potential violations and cooperating with internal and external investigations; (ii) the disclosure responsibilities of the Company's senior financial officers; (iii) the disclosure, review, and resolution of actual, potential, or perceived conflicts of interest and corporate opportunities; (iv) ethical and legal business practices, including compliance with anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws, anti-money laundering and international trade laws, and the prevention of fraud and facilitating tax evasion; and (v) the protection of confidential information, including restrictions on the use of non-public information in prediction markets, and the responsible use of artificial intelligence and other emerging technologies. The amendments also include other non-substantive revisions and administrative changes.

The revisions to the Code did not materially change the responsibilities and obligations that previously applied to the Company's directors, officers and employees under the Prior Code. The adoption of the Code did not relate to, or result in, any waiver, explicit or implicit, of any provision of the Prior Code.

The foregoing description of the changes contained in the Code does not purport to be complete and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the full text of the Code, a copy of which is available on the Company's website at ir.doordash.com.
