Carlisle Acquires MS Oberflächentechnik AG

Adds powder coating equipment, excellent technology and a strong brand to Carlisle Fluid Technologies

CHARLOTTE, NORTH CAROLINA, February 22, 2016 - Carlisle Companies Incorporated (NYSE:CSL) today announced that it has acquired MS Oberflächentechnik AG (MS), a Swiss-based developer and manufacturer of powder coating systems and related components.

With annual sales of approximately $6 million, MS designs and manufactures customized powder coating systems and components for several end markets and sells primarily to customers in Europe. The company has been owned by Mr. Henry Marcon for the past 25 years and operates from facilities in Balgach, Switzerland. MS has 30 employees and a track record of superior system design, consultancy and new product development.

Powder coating offers an environmentally-friendly, economical solution for harsher environment surface applications. New formulations have opened use of powder on a greater variety of substrates.

Chris Koch, Carlisle's President and Chief Executive Officer, said, "The acquisition of MS Oberflächentechnik furthers our plan to grow Carlisle Fluid Technologies through product expansion into higher-margin adjacent markets. MS has excellent technology and a well-established customer base. With MS's strong foundation and Carlisle's resources, we are confident of growing the business into a solid powder coating segment and a strong contributor to Carlisle Fluid Technologies. MS's powder coating capability is an excellent complementary fit with our liquid products business and will allow us to offer customers a broader range of engineered systems and components. We are very pleased to welcome the MS team to Carlisle."
