CT Services & Claim Genius Partner on New AI Inspection Solutions

SOUTHFIELD, MI – CT Services, LLC and Claim Genius, Inc. today announced a strategic partnership to develop and market new AI-based inspection solutions for the automotive remarketing and transportation markets within North America. The partnership will combine CT Services' vehicle inspection process expertise with Claim Genius's AI inspection technology to create new digital service model solutions for OEMs, remarketers, fleets, auctions, and dealers. Both parties expect to begin jointly marketing new products in Q4 of 2022.

Claim Genius's AI-based inspection platform allows customers to rapidly assess the physical condition of a vehicle through uploaded videos and photos, including identification and classification of damage on over 200 parts, automated prediction of vehicle reparability, and even line-by-line calculation of repair costs. Customers can use Claim Genius technology for lease and rental inspections, pre/post transportation inspections, insurance underwriting and claims, and more. Claim Genius solutions are available via mobile, web, or API access in multiple languages today.

"Since our founding in 1988, CT Services has been committed to implementing service innovations and helping our customers drive new efficiencies into their inspection/logistics processes," said Bob Gapinski, Vice President of Business Development of CT Services. "We are very excited to collaborate with Claim Genius to help reinvent the future of automotive inspections."

"CT Services is highly recognized as a long-standing leader in developing industry leading vehicle inspection solutions in North America. Their expertise and deep market knowledge coupled with Claim Genius technology will help us design some amazing products together to transform the inspection process for OEMs, finance institutions, rental car companies, auctions and the entire remarketing industry," said Mike MacDonald, COO & Head of Product Development for Claim Genius.
