

Keysight Technologies Political Contributions Policy

Keysight Technologies, Inc. and its subsidiaries (collectively, the “Company” or “Keysight”) is committed to strong management, oversight and transparency when reporting the Company’s engagement with government officials at all levels, and we consistently seek to provide our stockholders with relevant information regarding public policy engagement through our website by clicking on the links in the Governance section of the CSR Resources Hub of the Corporate Social Responsibility website.

Keysight funds or assets may never be used for political contributions. Keysight does not directly or indirectly contribute or donate any corporate funds or assets or make any “in-kind” contributions or expenditures (e.g., employee time, the provision of goods or services), to any political party, political committees or candidates for U.S. federal, state or local elections or for any elections outside of the United States, even when permitted by local law.

Employees of the Company may participate in political activity only as private citizens, not as representatives of the Company. Employees must not use Company funds or attempt to be reimbursed with the funds of the Company for any political donation or participation.

Trade/Industry Associations

Keysight and certain employees participate in local business groups, industry associations, and trade organizations that are directly relevant to our business operations. Keysight does not participate in any organization whose express purpose is political engagement, and we do not compensate any organization for political activity conducted on our behalf. Employees are prohibited from using Company funds, or seeking reimbursement from the Company, for membership dues to any trade or industry association known to have political affiliations.

U.S. Federal Lobbying Compliance

As part of our federal lobbying activity in the U.S., Keysight files quarterly reports of our activities. In conducting these activities, we comply with all federal, state and local laws that require disclosure of lobbying activities, including the federal Lobbying Disclosure Act and the Honest Leadership and Open Government Act. Information regarding our federal lobbying activities is publicly reported and available on the websites of the U.S. Senate and U.S. House of Representatives. Our federal lobbying disclosures for the last 3 fiscal years are also available on the “CSR Resources Hub”.

The Company’s Chief Executive Officer and General Counsel periodically review and approve updates to this Policy.
