14 Describe the organizational action and, if applicable, the date of the action or the date against which shareholders' ownership is measured for the action ▶ On March 6, 2014, A10 Networks, Inc. effected a 1-for-3.75 reverse split of its common stock. On March 6, 2014, (i) each 3.75 shares of outstanding common stock was combined into 1 share of common stock; (ii) the number of shares of common stock for which each outstanding option to purchase common stock is exercisable was proportionately reduced on a 1-for -3.75 basis; (iii) the exercise price of each such outstanding option was proportionately increased on a 1-for 3.75 basis; and (iv) each 3.75 shares of authorized common stock was reduced to 1 share of common stock.

15 Describe the quantitative effect of the organizational action on the basis of the security in the hands of a U.S. taxpayer as an adjustment per share or as a percentage of old basis ▶ Pursuant to the 1-for-3.75 reverse split of its common stock, the stockholder's basis in each share of the new Company common stock (immediately following the effectiveness of the reverse stock split on March 6, 2014) will be equal to the the stockholder's basis in the 3.75 shares of the Company common stock (held just prior to the reverse stock split) which were deemed exchanged for such new share of Company common stock. Any stockholder who would otherwise be entitled to a fractional share as a result of the reverse stock split became entitled to receive a cash payment in lieu of such fractional share. Each share of of common stock will have a basis after the reverse stock split that is 3.75 times the basis of an equivalent share of common stock immediately prior to the reverse stock split.

16 Describe the calculation of the change in basis and the data that supports the calculation, such as the market values of securities and the valuation dates ▶ Pursuant to the 1-for-3.75 reverse split of its common stock, the stockholder's basis in each share of the new Company common stock (as of the split effective on March 6, 2014) will be equal to the stockholder's basis in the 3.75 shares of the Company common stock (held just prior to the reverse stock split) which were deemed exchanged for such new share of Company common stock. Any stockholder who would otherwise be entitled to a fractional share as a result of the reverse stock split became entitled to receive a cash payment in lieu of such fractional share. Each fractional share of common stock will have a basis after the reverse stock split that is 3.75 times the basis of an equivalent fractional share of common stock immediately prior to the reverse stock split.

Part II Organizational Action (continued)

17 List the applicable Internal Revenue Code section(s) and subsection(s) upon which the tax treatment is based ►
The tax treatment of the Company's reverse stock split is pursuant to Internal Revenue Code section 368(a)(1)(E).

The adjustment to stockholder basis in the Company stock is pursuant to Internal Revenue Code section 358.

18 Can any resulting loss be recognized? ►
Except to the extent of cash received in lieu of fractional shares, the Company's stockholders generally will not recognize gain or loss for US Federal Income Tax purposes. In general, if a stockholder receives cash in lieu of a fractional share, the stockholder will recognize capital gain or loss on the difference between the amount of cash received and the stockholder's adjusted basis in the fractional share. The deductibility of capital losses may be subject to limitations. Stockholders should consult their tax advisors with respect to the potential tax consequences to them of the reverse stock split.

19 Provide any other information necessary to implement the adjustment, such as the reportable tax year ►
The reportable tax year is 2014 for taxpayers reporting taxable income on a calendar basis. For stockholders reporting taxable income on a basis other than calendar year, the reportable year is the stockholder's tax year that includes March 6, 2014.
