LAS VEGAS

MGM MIRAGE (NYSE: MGM) today announced that Anthony Mandekic has accepted an invitation to join the Company's Board of Directors. Mr. Mandekic was elected to his new post by the MGM MIRAGE Board of Directors at their regularly scheduled meeting held on May 9, 2006.

"We are very pleased to welcome Anthony Mandekic to the MGM MIRAGE Board of Directors," said MGM MIRAGE Chairman and Chief Executive Officer J. Terrence Lanni. "His expertise in the gaming and financial arenas will serve as a valuable and dynamic asset to our Board in the future direction of our Company."

Mr. Mandekic brings a wealth of gaming and management experience to the 15-member board. He currently serves as Secretary/Treasurer of Los Angeles based Tracinda Corporation, a corporation wholly-owned by Kirk Kerkorian, and has held this position since Tracinda's inception in 1976. He previously established and supervised the operation of the Cal-Neva Lodge in Lake Tahoe and served as President, Vice President and Director of the Stars Desert Inn, which operated the former Desert Inn resort on the Las Vegas Strip from September 1991 to December 1993.

Since 1989, Mr. Mandekic has also been the Chief Financial Officer and a Director of the Lincy Foundation, a charitable organization founded by Mr. Kerkorian.

Mr. Mandekic is a graduate of the University of Southern California with a bachelor's degree in Science-Accounting, worked for Arthur Andersen & Co. and is a Certified Public Accountant.
