ARIA Resort & Casino

- Renowned Las Vegas chef Julian Serrano serves up his native Spanish cuisine at his eponymous restaurant. Drink specials include half-off white and red sangria during the game.
- SKYBOX Sports Bar and Grill is far more than your average sports bar with 23 high-definition screens and gourmet "dude food" such as a Chorizo Burger with fried egg, cheddar cheese and toasted fennel mayo. SKYBOX will go the whole nine yards with regional cuisine inspired by the two teams in the Big Game, including Green Bay-special Beer-Steamed Venison Bratwurst with sauerkraut, German potato salad and warm mustard sauce and a BBQ Chipped Ham and Bacon Burger with chili sauce and cheddar cheese for Pittsburgh fans.

Circus Circus

- With more than 20 flat screens and two jumbo screens, Rock & Rita's is one of the newest spots on The Strip and the perfect place for sports fans to tackle their hunger. The Big Game party includes an all-you-can-eat buffet of game-time favorites for $25 per person.

Crystals at CityCenter

- Todd English P.U.B. is hosting a tailgate party for the Big Game with festivities, food specials and of course, drinks. Games such as the famed Beat-the-Glass Challenge, Beer Pong and Darts will up the competition while the game shows on all TVs.

Mandalay Bay

MGM Grand

- Go gourmet at Fiamma Trattoria & Bar with delicious Italian appetizers, including several for under $10 each. For the ultimate viewing party, the game can show via projector in the private dining room.
- At Diego, guests can go the route of an all-you-can-eat nacho bar for $25 per person, featuring a variety of toppings like Tomatillo and Serrano Chile Cheese Cream and Red Chile Braised Chicken, or munch on made-to-order Taqueria-style tacos for $2.50 a piece. For $100 per person, football fans can enjoy all-you-can-eat and drink all Super Sunday. A Stoli Bloody Mary bar will feature original Bloody Mary's and RHUMBAR's unique Green Bloody Mary, as well as additional drink specials like $5 Miller Lite 16 oz. cans, $30 buckets of six Miller Lite cans in a souvenir cooler and discounted Milagro drinks.
