MGM Grand Detroit, First Ever Las Vegas-Style Destination Built in a Major Metropolitan Core, Brings New Level of Luxury to Midwest; Opens Evening of October 2, 2007

Grand Opening Press Conference, October 2 at 11 a.m. ET

MGM Grand Detroit will open its more than $800-million hotel and entertainment destination on the evening of October 2, making it the first ever Las Vegas-style resort built in a major metropolitan core. Upon opening, MGM MIRAGE (NYSE: MGM), parent company of MGM Grand Detroit, will have invested more than $1 billion into the community, demonstrating its commitment to the redevelopment of downtown Detroit and its intent to fuel economic growth while increasing business and leisure travel to the area. This signals a new era for downtown Detroit with matchless amenities and accommodations never before available in the Midwest.

For grand opening media credentials and media room reservations, please call or e-mail Natalie Mounier or Shelby Tuttle at (702) 737-3100, nmounier@kirvindoak.com or stuttle@kirvindoak.com.
