Bruker Announces Second Quarter 2025 Preliminary Results, Plans to Hold Q2 Earnings Conference Call on August 4, 2025

2025-07-21

BILLERICA, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Bruker Corporation (Nasdaq: BRKR) today announced preliminary revenue for the second quarter ended June 30, 2025 in a range of $795 - $798 million, which implies approximately flat reported revenue year-over-year. Bruker estimates that its non-GAAP organic revenue in the second quarter of 2025 declined approximately 7% year-over-year, with constant-exchange rate revenue declining approximately 3%.

Second quarter 2025 bookings reflect weak academic demand, as well as softness in the U.S. biopharma market. Second quarter 2025 non-GAAP EPS is expected in the $0.32 - $0.34 range, representing approximately a $0.19 per share decline year-over-year, including a $0.06 foreign currency headwind.

Bruker plans to host its earnings conference call and webcast on Monday, August 4, 2025 at 8:30 a.m. EDT to discuss second quarter 2025 financial results, business developments and on-going cost actions.

Preliminary Financial Information

The anticipated results discussed in this press release are based on management's preliminary, unaudited analysis of financial results for the quarter ended June 30, 2025. As of the date of this press release, Bruker has not completed its quarter end procedures for such period, and the Company's independent registered accounting firm has not reviewed the preliminary financial data discussed in this press release. During the course of the Company's quarter-end closing procedures and review process, the Company may identify items that would require it to make adjustments, which may be material to the information presented above. As a result, the estimates above constitute forward-looking information and are subject to risks and uncertainties, including possible adjustments to preliminary operating results.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To supplement this preliminary consolidated financial information, which is prepared and presented in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP), we also refer to organic revenue growth, a non-GAAP financial measure. We define the term organic revenue as GAAP revenue excluding the effect of changes in foreign currency translation rates and the effect of acquisitions and divestitures, and believe it is a useful measure to evaluate our continuing business.

The presentation of non-GAAP financial measures is not intended to be a substitute for, or superior to, the financial information prepared and presented in accordance with GAAP and may be different from non-GAAP financial measures used by other companies, and therefore, may not be comparable among companies. We believe this non-GAAP financial measure provides meaningful supplemental information regarding our performance. However, we urge investors not to rely on any single financial measure to evaluate our business. Specifically, management believes that the non-GAAP measures mentioned above provide relevant and useful information which is widely used by analysts, investors and competitors in our industry, as well as by our management, in assessing both consolidated and business unit performance.

We use this and other non-GAAP financial measures to evaluate our period-over-period operating performance because our management believes this provides a more comparable measure of our continuing business by adjusting for certain items that are not reflective of the underlying performance of our business. This measure may also be useful to investors in evaluating the underlying operating performance of our business and forecasting future results. We regularly use non-GAAP financial measures internally to understand, manage, and evaluate our business results and make operating decisions. We also measure our employees and compensate them, in part, based on certain non-GAAP measures and use this information for our planning and forecasting activities.
