Encompass Health to discuss longer term business outlook at its 2020 investor day

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 4, 2020 - Encompass Health Corp. (NYSE: EHC) will host its 2020 investor day today in New York City. Encompass Health President & Chief Executive Officer Mark Tarr will outline the integrated healthcare service provider's longer term business outlook for the Company.

Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Doug Coltharp, Executive Vice President and President of Inpatient Hospitals Barb Jacobsmeyer, Chief Executive Officer - Home Health & Hospice April Anthony, President - Home Health & Hospice Luke James, and Chief Information Officer Rusty Yeager will join Tarr in providing updates for their respective areas of the business.

Encompass Health's last investor day in 2015 focused on strategy changes and the Company's acquisition of Dallas-based Encompass Home Health & Hospice. Today, the Company will focus on three of the six primary elements of its strategy: sustained growth, advanced technology and quality.

Growth strategy

The Company's growth strategy is supported by a demographic tailwind of an aging U.S. population that is expected to continue to increase the demand for the types of services the Company provides. The growth strategy is further supported by the increasing preference of seniors to age at home. Encompass Health's executive team will discuss the new growth targets for the next five years.

Advanced technology

During the presentation, the Company's executive team will also take a deeper dive into how the Company leverages its clinical expertise, large and proprietary clinical datasets, and proven capabilities in data and predictive analytics to drive clinical and business processes that help the Company provide cost-effective care for payors, providers and patients.

Quality

Additionally, the team will discuss how Encompass Health's unique combination of facility-based and home-based assets coupled with its investments in technology allow the Company to provide high-quality, cost-effective integrated care. This includes a discussion of how the Company's integrated care model and use of predictive analytics are reducing readmissions, and thus improving outcomes and reducing the overall cost of care.
