

ChargePoint Appoints Jaser Faruq Chief Product and Software Officer

2026-02-23

CAMPBELL, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- ChargePoint (NYSE: CHPT), a global leader in electric vehicle (EV) charging solutions, today announced the appointment of industry veteran Jaser Faruq as Chief Product and Software Officer. In this role, Faruq will lead ChargePoint's global product management and software development teams, bringing to market revolutionary new hardware and software solutions for the future of eMobility.

Faruq brings considerable experience to ChargePoint, most recently at Schneider Electric. While there, Faruq led the company's North American electrification businesses, overseeing EV chargers, batteries, and smart panels. Simultaneously, Faruq managed several acquisitions, including that of the energy marketplace EnergySage and EV charger installer Qmerit. Prior to this, Faruq led Tesla's residential energy business.

"EV charging is a nuanced ecosystem in which software, hardware, and services must work together seamlessly in order to deliver a spectacular driver experience," said Jaser Faruq. "ChargePoint is uniquely positioned to deliver this at scale, and I'm eager to lead the team developing the next generation of charging solutions."

"We are thrilled to welcome Jaser Faruq to ChargePoint as our Chief Product and Software Officer," said Rick Wilmer, CEO of ChargePoint. "Jaser brings a rare combination of product leadership, customer-centric thinking, and deep industry expertise that will be instrumental in shaping our future as we continue to drive innovation as a top priority. His leadership will help accelerate our roadmap, strengthen execution, and deliver even greater value to our customers and partners worldwide."
