Hyve Solutions Achieves Platinum Level Member Status within Open Compute Project for its Contributions to the Open Source Community

SAN JOSE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Hyve Solutions, a division of SYNNEX Corporation (NYSE: SNX), and a leading OCP solutions provider, is excited to announce it has achieved Platinum Level member status within the Open Compute Project for its financial, IP specs and design contributions. As the first official OCP solution provider, Hyve Solutions has contributed its Hyve Solutions Open Rack storage designs and its Hyve Solutions OCP 1500 Series OCP-ready server designs engineered to fit into a standard 19-inch datacenter rack.

"From the inception of Open Compute Project, we have been a fervent supporter of its mission," said Steve Ichinaga, President, Hyve Solutions. "We are very proud to be a member of this energetic and innovative community and continue to prioritize the development of highly efficient open source solutions."

"The Hyve Solutions team has been an integral part of the OCP community from the very beginning, providing key insights through years of experience and contributions," said Cole Crawford, Executive Director, Open Compute Project Foundation. "We congratulate them and look forward to many years of innovative collaboration."
