Roelant de Waard, Vice President, Marketing, Sales and Service, Ford of Europe

“This decade will see major changes in the auto industry. At Ford, we are embracing electrification and will have 14 electrified vehicles this year. To kick it off, we launched our new “Bring on Tomorrow” brand campaign signalling a shift in our business towards the future where all new vehicles will have an electrified option.”

VEHICLE NEWS

The new Ford Puma crossover with best-in-class luggage space is now on sale across Europe. It was awarded a 5-star Euro NCAP safety rating, and is the UK's What Car? Car of the Year 2020.

Ford continues to strengthen its SUV sales and range in 2020. The all-new Kuga SUV will feature three levels of hybrid technology, making it Ford's most electrified model ever.

Ford will have 14 electrified vehicles available in Europe by the end of 2020, including the all-electric Ford Mustang Mach-E with a 0-100 km/h time of sub-five seconds.
