The State of the Auto Insurance Market

Late Summer 2021 Auto Insurance Downturn Begins

Cost of claims rises rapidly due to higher used car values, increased cost to repair and overall accident severity

Carriers are unable to adjust and implement rates quickly due to regulatory process and policy renewal cycles

Carriers face elevated claims and combined ratios; significantly reduce consumer acquisition spend

Current Outlook

Multiple auto carriers receive rate raising approvals in many states in 2023 to restore adequate profitability

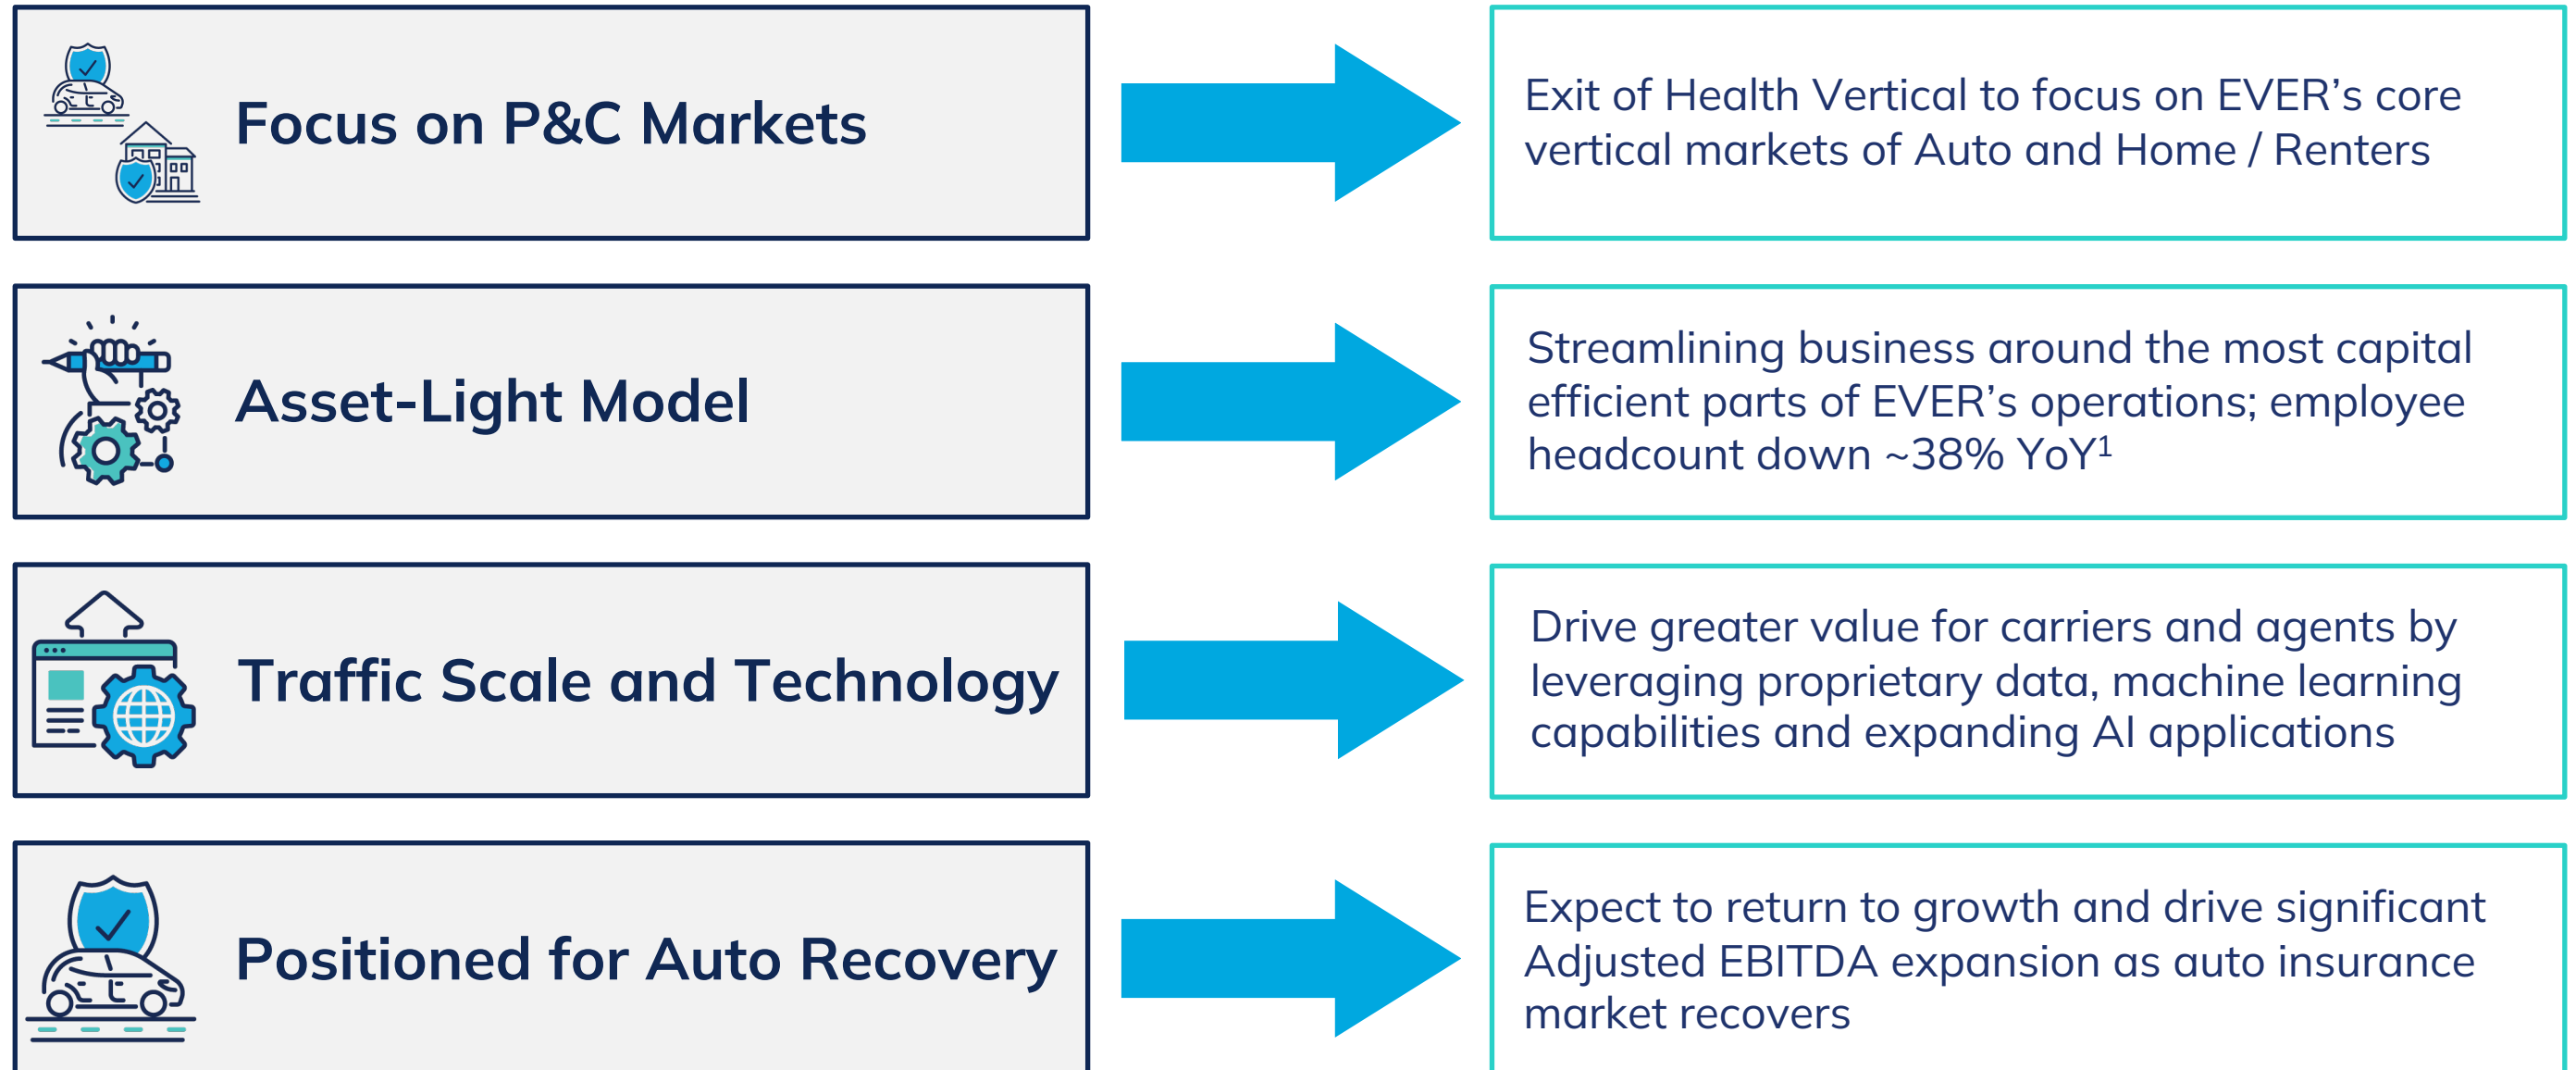

Cost of claims show some signs of stabilization and loss pressures show signs of easing

Signs of improvement are shown in early 2024; exact timing of the full auto recovery remains uncertain

Auto Recovery signs beginning in early 2024

Key Metrics Definitions

Variable Marketing Margin

We define variable marketing margin, or VMM, as revenue, as reported in our consolidated statements of operations and comprehensive income (loss), less advertising costs (a component of sales and marketing expense, as reported in our statements of operations and comprehensive income loss). We use VMM to measure the efficiency of individual advertising and consumer acquisition sources and to make trade-off decisions to manage our return on advertising. We do not use VMM as a measure of profitability.

Adjusted EBITDA

We define Adjusted EBITDA as net income (loss), adjusted to exclude: stock-based compensation expense, depreciation and amortization expense, restructuring and other charges, acquisition-related costs, legal settlement expense, one-time severance charges, interest income and the provision for (benefit from) income taxes. We monitor & present Adjusted EBITDA because it is a key measure used by our management & board of directors to understand & evaluate our operating performance, to establish budgets & to develop operational goals for managing our business.
